Asset Management and Good Practice

[Without effective asset management plans] there is concern that local authorities' most valuable asset – their road networks – will be maintained inefficiently even under optimal funding conditions.

Embracing Technology to Help Maintain Roads and Resilience

Pothole Spotter Trial

The Department is currently undertaking trials in Wiltshire, York and Thurrock.

Pothole-Spotter is a combination of using advanced and well tested technologies as well as advanced data analytics and machine learning techniques that will help to identify existing potholes and other developing problems, as well as the best use of durable materials.

Over time this will enable councils to better predict how and when potholes are created. Creating a proactive service delivery environment.
