

HEALTH, SAFETY & WELFARE POLICY

Policy

Our policy is to provide and maintain a safe and healthy working environment for all our employees and to provide such information, training and supervision as they need to achieve this purpose.

We also accept a duty of care responsibility for the health and safety of people who may be visiting or working in our premises or on our sites - or who are attending our events.

We only work with contractors, suppliers and venues which are fully committed to all health and safety procedures and hold the relevant and appropriate health and safety certificates.

Before the start of all events we have a final safety walk-through to check that all equipment, furnishings and lighting are in order and that all walkways and fire exits are clear.

Accountability

The Company Secretary is responsible for the review and implementation of this policy and for the allocation of all duties regarding health, safety and welfare matters.

Review

This policy will be kept up to date, particularly as new legislation is introduced and as new equipment is acquired by the company. To ensure that this is done, the policy and the way in which it is operated will be reviewed as required and at least annually.
